¶ To the curteous & studious Reader.

Acceptance of a simple gift,
in kind and friendly wise,
Is matchfull, with the giuing of a gift, of greater prise.
Each gift, that euery man shall giue,
such price and value takes,
As he that shall receaue the same,
acceptance thereof makes.
For kind accept makes smalest gifts,
to seeme greatest of all:

And hard accept, makes greateſt giſts
to ſeeme but very ſmall.
But good accept, the widdowes mites,
(a thing of ſmall account)
All offrings that the rich men gaue,
in value, did ſurmount.
Heereby, the poore mans ſacrifice,
that was a parched cake,
As pleaſing was, as all the ſteemes that ſweet incenſe could make.
Heereby, two handfulls of water,
to Artaxerxes brought,
As welcome was, as iewels rich,
that were moſt finely wrought.
Heereby, poore Conons nauew rootes,
became a greater gift,
Then was a ſtately Stallion giuen,
vpon a gainefull drift.
In hope hereof, I boldned was,
to ſtring my bow anew,
And ſubiect this my ſecond worke
vnto thy friendly view.
The good accept whereof ſhall be,
the ſpring-time of my paine:
The ſommer of my recompence,
and harueſt of my gaine.

THe moone in Virgo, ſhall at her full, be caught in the ſhadow of the earth, by which meanes ſhee ſhall ſuffer an Eclipſe oꝛ loſſe of light, to the quantitie of one poynt, on tueſday the 3 day of March, 26 minutes after foure of the clocke in the euening.

Of the ſecond Eclipſe of the Moone.

THere ſhall be with vs ſeene this yeere, another Eclipſe of the Moone, vpon thurſday the 27 of Auguſt, at two of the clocke 46 minutes after midnight, the which darkneſs ſhall be almoſt halfe the deamiter of her ſuperficies.

¶ A prediction of Winter.

Sol in ♑ ♒ ♓.

Such ſeemes the habite of the inferioꝛ ruiers of this Winters reuolution, (which began the 12 of December laſt) when not ſo well affected, as erſt in ſome like ſeaſon they haue beene: but their diſſentious woꝛking, vnkinde diſtemperance, often ſtoꝛmes, and many duſkie clowdes, like to ſhed downe ſtoꝛe of moiſture (in both kindes) bꝛeeding thereby coꝛrupt vapours, to the generall offence of the healthy ſtate of the people, in moſt places, with ſickneſſes of diuers qualities, like to cauſe as well death, as ſundꝛy diſeaſes: as paines in the head, neck, bleꝛed eyes, ſtitches, inflamation of the lungs, pluriſies, ache of the breast, side and loynes, with goute and palsies, but especially, such as proceede of colones and moysture.

This winter quarter is a season, in qualitie colde and moist, contrary to the condition of sommer, whose enemy (as some Authors say) hee is found to be, for that in all respects, it differeth in qualitie there-from, and annoyeth or destroyeth those crescent thinges which sommer hath brought forth and nourished, by his kindly heate.

¶ A prediction of the Spring.

Sol in ♈ ♉ ♊.

Though the approch of the sunne from the southerne Tropicke towards our Zenith, the 12 day of March may (in cōmon reason) assure vs of a milde restraint of winters rigor: yet, I verily suppose, the suddes and dregges of former compounded euills, proceeding of the concourse of maleuolent bodies aboue, will so distemper the beginning of this plausible season, with such interchange of vnnaturall weather, as is likely to tend to the hinderance of grasse, hearbes, plants, and trees, and detriment of catell, to the griefe of the husbandman, when he shall see the gaine of his trauell not to sort, according to his expected hope. The ayre beeing likely to receiue corruption, by a supposed Earthquake, venting and casting forth, putrified, and noysome exhalations, from the ventricles of the earth, threatneth a sequell of sundry sharpe sicknesses, springing of both kindes of choler, infecting and distempering the blood. Whereby many sharpe (if not pestilentiall) feauers, are like to ensue, besides small poxe, measels, botches, impostumes, & such like, with some other of milder qualitie, as paines in the head, eyes, ioynts, and feete, to raigne chiefely among people of a declining age. And I pray God, that young children may remaine free there-from also, & turne from vs these and all other euils.

¶ A prediction of Sommer.

Sol in ♋ ♌ ♍.

The restlesse sun hauing performed (this 12 of June) his vttermost progresse, yeelds vs the beneuolent beames of his fairest raies, the which (I feare) will often be interceptercepted with ſwelling clowdes, tending to thunder, haile, and vnſeaſonable cold ſtormes, farre vnfitting the benigne temperament of ſommer ſeaſon, to no ſmall damage of breeding fowles, kindly blowth of corne, & ripening of fruites, ſhortly after to bee gathered: likelie to make hereby ſcarcitie of well hoped plentie. Yet I hope, that rather couetouſnes, then ſcarſitie, will make them deere, and that dearth, if any be, is liker to grow through the corruption of men, then by the finger of God, which if it ſo fall out, God grant that Achan, the author of this miſchiefe, may be accordingly rewarded, as Ioſua. 7. 25. and not Iſraell to be plagued for the ſinnes of Saul, as Sam. 2.

This ſeaſon is naturally hote and dry, reſembling the element of fire, and complexion of choller, bringing all plants to their perfection, fruites to their ripenes, cattell to their beſt plight and fatneſſe, and men to their wealth. The ſickneſſes of this ſeaſon, are like to be ſome of thoſe that are before mentioned, as sharpe and hote feauers, ſwambling of the ſtomatke, Opthalmies, running eyes, paine in the eares, bliſters, ſore mouthes, and vncouth ſweates.

¶ Predictions of Harueſt, or Autume.

Sol in ♎ ♏ ♐.

This time, is by kinde of temperament, colde and dry, helpefull to perfect the kerning and ripening of ſome latter fruites ſeruing for ſtore. But I feare, that many vnexpected, and vnwelcome ſtormes of thunder, haile, and lightning, & ſuch other gaſtly weather, is like ſome thing to croſſe this kindly temprature, to the procuring of diuers infirmities, and mortall diſeaſes, chiefly like to affect the ruſticall or country people. God for his mercy, grant that faith, pietie, loyaltie, charitie, and compaſſion, grow not to infidelitie, impietie, diſloyaltie, vncharitableneſſe, and hard-hartedneſſe. Thereby incenſing the mindes of many to immoderate luſt, ſecret practiſing of treccherie, and miſchiefe, pilfering, robbing, & ſpoyling of trauellers and paſſengers by ſeas and land, and diuers other enormities. &c. Aſt baculum hic figo, et digito compeſco labellū.

Certaine

Certaine cautions to be considered of in blood-letting, purging, bathing, and sweating.

That letting of blood may be profitable as well to preserue health, as to helpe sickneſſe, theſe thinges are to be conſidered.

1 Firſt, the cauſes why blood ſhould be let.
2 Secondly, the perſon that is to be letten blood.
3 Thirdly, the time generall, and particuler.
4 Fourthly, the conſtitution of the ayre.
5 Fiftly, the veyne to be opened.
6 Laſtly, the quantitie that is to be drawne out.

And it is to be obſerued alſo, that blood is not to be letten out, at any time without vrgent occaſion, for otherwiſe, it may cauſe great weakeneſſe, and breede many dangerous infirmities. when a veine is to be opened, let it be done by the aduiſe of ſome learned Phiſition: it may be doone, if neceſſitie inforce not the contrary, after good digeſtion, and faſting in the morning, in a faire temperate day. After blood-letting, anoyde all exceſſe in eating, drinking, labouring, ſleeping, &c.

Ad tridun in veneris, concubituſque fuge.

Theſe ſignes are generally holden good to let blood in, namely, Aries, Libra, Sagittarius, and Piſces.

Particulerly, as for thoſe that bee cholericke, doe it when the moone runneth in Cancer, Scorpius, and Piſces.

For thoſe that bee flegmaticke, the moone in Aries, and Sagittarius.

For melancholicke perſons, in Libra and Aquarius.

For the ſanguine complexion, all the former ſignes are indifferent good.

¶ Of Purging.

In purging, conſider of theſe thinges following.

1 Firſt, of the ſtrength of the partie, that thereby may be knowen, what doſe or quantity of medicine he may take.

2 Secondly

2 Secondly, the humour which offendeth is to bee knowne, as whether it be choler, flegme, or melancholie, or whether any of these simple, or mixt.

3 Thirdly, what part of the bodie is diseased, is also to be looked vnto: for agreeable there-vnto must the medicine be prepared.

4 Lastly, it is to be well considered, how the matter offending may most readily be brought forth, as whether by purging downeward, or by vomit, by vrine, or sweat, for by euery of these orderly vsed, ease and remedie is to be had.

Good signes for purging generally, are when the moone runneth in Cancer, Scorpius, and Pisces.

Particularlie, as with potions and drinkes, when the moone runneth in Scorpius.

With { Electuaries. / Pilles. / Vomits. } the moone running in { Cancer. / Pisces. / Aries, Taurus, and Capricorne. }

Take gargarismes, the moone in Aries and Cancer.

Take preparatiues, when the moone runneth in Gemini, Libra, Aquarius.

Take Clysters, when the moone runneth in Libra and Scorpius.

Stop and stay rewmes and laskes, when the moone runneth in Taurus, Virgo, and Capricornus.

For vsing of topicall medicines, as ointments, playsters, and such like, let the moone runne in that signe, which gouerneth the member or part of the body, that is to be annointed, or plastered.

¶ Of Bathing.

The best time in the yere to enter into Bathes, is from the beginning of May, vnto the end of September.

The best times in the day, are morning and euening, but after some exercise, and purging of the body, and al-

wayes

wayes about three or foure houres before meate, & when the ſunne is of a good height, that the miſtie, and other corrupt exhalations, may firſt be drawne vp frō the earth.

¶ It is not good to bathe, when the moone runneth in Taurus, Virgo, and Capricornus, the reaſon is, becauſe theſe ſignes are of a colde and dry nature: and the nature of cold is to coarcte and binde, ſo that the moone running in thoſe ſignes, the poores of the body are cloſed and ſhut, and then no good reſolution of the humors and ſuperfluities, can be duly made, which by bathing are to be let out and auoyded. Tanſterus, fol. 57.

But in the fierie ſignes, as Aries, Leo, and Sagittarius, then it is a good time for bathing, becauſe the body is then apt to reſolution, and it is the nature of heate to open and reſolue. And it is beſt to bath two or three dayes after the change, and at the full of the moone, for then the ſuperfluities are apter and readier to iſſue and flow out, which in deede is the effect and end of bathings. Tanſt. fol. eod.

¶ In the time of the peſtilence, or when any other epidimicall or infective ſickneſſes do reigne, all bathings muſt be vtterly forborne.

¶ Of ſweating, with the commoditie and order thereof.

¶ Sweat is the excrement of that which is made after concoction in each part of mans body. Doreſſerus. fol. 56.

Of ſweats there are diuers ſorts, as Sudor indicatorius, and Symptomaticus. Of the which two, I mind not to ſpeake nowe, for they are (reſpectiuely) to be iudged and diſcerned onely by the learned Phiſitions.

But

But there are naturall and artificiall ſweats, of the which I will ſpeake briefly.

The firſt called naturall, is when men do ſweat voluntarily, without force of medicine, or other artificiall helpe, as hote drinke, ſtoue, or hote-houſe. This kind of ſweat, if it flow accordingly, openeth the pores, diſſolueth groſſe humors, cleanſeth the blood, comforteth the ſpirits, putteth away cold, conſumeth raw humors, ſtrengtheneth ſinewes, ſhortneth feauers, helpeth rewmes, the dropſie, & the peſtilence.

The ſecond kind of ſweating being artificiall, is raiſed by ſtoues, bathes, or with hote water, in bladders or bottels, with hote ſtones wrapped in cloathes, applied to the feete, and other parts of the body being in bed: alſo with moyſt bathes of herbes, or with perfumes, and ſuch like. And this ſweat hath vertue to cleanſe ſcabbes, to helpe the itch, Naples buttons, & ſuch other, as by experience and daily practiſe, is now adayes knowne and ſeene.

And note, that in ſweating, it is better to ſweat at euening, then in the morning, for when the body hath nourriſhment, within, the ſpirits ſhall not ſo eaſily be drawne forth to the extreame parts.

Note further, ỹ ſuch as haue leane, dry, or fæble bodies, muſt ſweat little, for it will hurt them much, but fat folks may ſweat well, and it will helpe them greatly: howe be it, ſtrong ſweats, and often, are not good for the eyes.

Sweat, ſaith Hipocrates, is commendable in ſharpe Agues in the dayes of Criſis, or iudgement of the ſickneſſe, but in the contrary it is euill: as when ſweat is cold, ſpecially in a very ſharp feauer, for then it ſheweth that death approcheth, becauſe cold ſweats proceed frō groſſe matter, which ouer-quelleth the ſpirits of liuely warmeneſſe.

Sweat is euill alſo, when it is about the head, face, or neck, onely, although it be not cold.

The beſt time, or meeteſt ſignes to ſweat in, is whē the moone hath her courſe in Aries, Leo, and Sagittarius.

Vrina et ſudor, vomitus, deiectio ventris,
Sanguis, apoſtema, hæc numerantur critica ſigna.

Collimitius lib. de Astrol. ad medic. applic.

ART gathreth the predictions of weathers alteration:
According as the ſtarres doe take their diuers figuration:
And (reſtleſly) doe runne their race
through ſtations of the Sky,
As it to them appointed is,
by mightie Ione on hie.
If weather (alwaies) fall not out
as arte from ſtarres doth ſhow,
That ſtarres are but Gods inſtruments
we (ſtreight) muſt learne to know:
Who cannot yeeld theyr influence
in other ſort to vs,
Then God aboue (who ruleth all)
ſhall by his will diſcuſſe.
Nothing ſo firmely fixed is,
by force of natures law,
But bend vnto his becke it muſt,
and alwaies ſtand in awe.

Ioſhua, 10. The princely Planet Sol ſtoode ſtill,
The ſpace of one whole day:

Kings, 9. And tenne degrees did backward goe,
of his fore-paſſed way.
When Chriſt (our Lord) was crucified,

the

the ſunne was darkned quite, Mathe. 27. Luke, 23.
About midday: (yet no Eclipſe)
as though it had been night.
Then blame not Artes predictions,
Though now and then they miſſe:
Art is a thing moſt excellent,
(yet notwithſtanding this)
Let God haue this preheminence, that all things muſt him ſerue,
Afford to Arte ſuch praiſe, as it doth worthilie deſerue.

Aſtra inclinant, non neceſsitant.

Omnipotens ſolus fatalibus imperat aſtris,
Signa regunt homines, hæc regit aſtra Deus.

Of Surry and of Suſſex fayres
